WAP Coin

ABSTRACT

WHAT IS WAP?

WAP Coin is a deflationary BNB-based token on the Binance Smart Chain network that connects investors and traders in a common mission: striving to be the best BNB-based token.

For every transaction 1% is burned and no tokens are distributed to other holders. These tokenomics are in place to incentivize people to buy and trade without worrying about a ridiculous overhead tax (fee). We believe it is up to the people to decide how much they want to buy and sell.

The initial supply was 69,420,420,420 WAP. The 3 founders of WAP each have 5.7620% of the initial supply in their own wallets, as can be seen from a blockchain explorer.

WHY CRYPTOCURRENCY?

While concern for our environment, wildlife and society is a powerful and global force, it does not reach the magnitude of the power of money in influencing public decisions. Unfortunately, due to the nature of human progress the most money is usually to be gained by exploiting or damaging the very planet that we live on, not saving it. But, what if financial success could be tied to charity for wildlife preservation, global warming and kids charities? What if there was a way to motivate and reward an online community of both investors and traders with profit and with the power of real humanitarian change? That's why cryptocurrencies give us this unique opportunity.

The crypto market has disrupted global finance, trade, and many more industries with unique capabilities to solve complex economic and social issues utilizing smart contracts and unique currency features (often called tokenomics).

Use-Case

WAP Coin can be best described as a memecoin, but fundamentally, it's something much more than that. The big difference between most memecoins and WAP Coin is that this token has a use-case that will make a big difference in the real world, since the founders agreed to donate a portion to charities across different spectrums. The charities can use these funds to fight for what is right. Because of this use case, we decided to ask someone to hand draw Patrick from a particular scene in Spongebob as our mascot for our token. We hope to make a real difference in the real world, unlike other memecoins.
